 - ✓ Virtual Museum Tours

The screenshot shows the IARU website interface. On the left is a navigation menu with the following items: Home, About IARU (highlighted in blue), For STUDENTS, For RESEARCH, For UNIVERSITY STAFF, For SUSTAINABILITY, News (highlighted in blue), and Calendar. On the right, there is a news article titled "President's Hotline was held" dated "Written on 26 June 2020." The article text reads: "The IARU Presidents' Meeting took place online three times in the first week of June on a regional basis. The Presidents shared information concerning their institution's situation and their measures against the spread of COVID-19, and discussed what can be done jointly in the time of coronavirus, where we have fewer opportunities for travel and direct human interactions." Below the text is a grid of 12 video conference windows showing various participants in a meeting.

3. Enhancing Communication among the IARU Community

➤ Messages posted on the website

- ✓ Response to COVID-19 (May 2020)
- ✓ In pursuit of an inclusive world (June 2020)

The screenshot shows the IARU website header with the logo and navigation menu. The main content area is titled "Response to COVID-19" and includes a date "Written on 13 May 2020." The text begins with "Dr. Makoto Gonokami (UTokyo), the Chair of IARU, released his message to IARU Community members. The information on how IARU universities respond to COVID-19 are also open." It then contains a message from the IARU Chair: "Dear IARU Community members, First of all, I would like to express my gratitude for everyone who is committed to safeguard their campuses and their community. Many IARU activities that were planned to take place this spring and in summer have been affected, and I would like to thank you again for all the organizers for taking this situation seriously and making a tough decision to either postpone or cancel these activities, which you have spent a tremendous time preparing for. I am sure that this experience will provide us with new ideas and ways to communicate with one another and we can gain new strength and networks that we can collectively use as a IARU group to contribute to the betterment of humanity." The page ends with a paragraph about the impact of COVID-19 on the economy and society, and a statement of condolence for those who have died.

The text begins with "Dr. Makoto Gonokami (UTokyo), the Chair of IARU, released the following message to IARU Community members." It then contains a message to the IARU community: "Dear IARU community members, The global outrage to the death of Mr. George Floyd is a sad reminder that our world has yet to overcome social and political injustices based on difference of race. IARU, a coalition of 11 universities that share common commitments to inclusive societies that treasure creation of knowledge across national or cultural boundaries, cannot accept racial intolerance, injustice or discrimination. As the president of the University of Tokyo, I further wish to add that Japan is not immune to racism, and that more efforts must be made to achieve a society which accepts social and cultural diversity. Let us work together to realize a common future that we all can share." The page ends with the name and title of the author: "GONOKAMI Makoto, Chair of International Alliance of Research Universities, President of the University of Tokyo".

Participants' Biographies

Australian National University

Professor Brian P. SCHMIDT AC FAA FRS

*Vice-Chancellor and President, Australian National University
2011 Nobel Laureate Physics*

Professor Brian P. Schmidt was appointed Vice-Chancellor and President of The Australian National University (ANU) in January 2016.

Professor Schmidt is the 12th Vice-Chancellor of The Australian National University (ANU). Winner of the 2011 Nobel Prize in Physics, Professor Schmidt was an astrophysicist at the ANU Mount Stromlo Observatory and

Research School of Astronomy and Astrophysics before becoming ViceChancellor.

Professor Schmidt received undergraduate degrees in Astronomy and Physics from the University of Arizona in 1989, and completed his Astronomy Master's degree (1992) and PhD (1993) from Harvard University. Under his leadership, in 1998, the High-Z Supernova Search team made the startling discovery that the expansion rate of the Universe is accelerating. Fellow of the Australian Academy of Science, The United States Academy of Science, and the Royal Society, he was made a Companion of the Order of Australia in 2013. She has been actively involved in the establishment of the Canberra Writers Festival, and is the Deputy Chair of the Board. She also sits on the Canberra Convention Bureau Board and the ANU National Security College Board.

Professor Sally WHEELER OBE, MRIA, FAcSS, FAAL

*Pro Vice-Chancellor (International Strategy) and Dean, ANU
College of Law*

As Pro Vice-Chancellor for International Strategy (PVCIS), Professor Wheeler is responsible for the development and implementation of the academically-led international strategy for the Australian National University (ANU). Sally chairs the ANU International Group and is a member of the University's Executive. The PVCIS represents the University on international committees and formal engagements.

Working closely with the International Strategy & Partnerships office, the ANU International Liaison Offices, the University's Marketing and Student Recruitment Division and colleagues across the University, the PVCIS provides leadership to the University's strategic engagement with global partners and on international student recruitment.

Professor Wheeler joined the University as the Dean of the ANU College of Law in early 2018, a role she continues to hold. Sally divides her time between the ANU College of Law and her role as Pro Vice-Chancellor (International Strategy).

Prior to taking up these positions at ANU, Sally was a Professor and Pro-Vice Chancellor for Research and Enterprise at Queen's University Belfast. She was elected to the Academy of Social Sciences and the Royal Irish Academy in 2011 and 2013, respectively. She became a Fellow of the Australian Academy of Law in 2018 and in the 2017 New Years' Honours list, Sally was awarded an OBE for services to higher education in Northern Ireland.

Mr Nic JÖNSSON (Key Contact)

Director, International Strategy & Partnerships

Mr Niclas Jönsson commenced as Director - International Strategy and Partnerships at the ANU in July 2019. Prior to joining the University, Nic worked for more than a decade in the International Division of the Australian Government Department of Education. This included a diplomatic posting to Brazil (2014-2017), where Nic opened the Australian Government's first Education & Science Office in Latin America, and a series of management roles across the department looking after issues such as international strategy development, stakeholder relations and communications, and multilateral and bilateral engagement. Nic is a graduate of the ANU (Master of International Affairs), but also holds an Honours Degree in International Relations from Flinders University, Australia and a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from Linköping University, Sweden.

Mr. Jonathan DAMPNEY (Key Contact)

Deputy Director, International Strategy & Partnerships

Jonathan was appointed Deputy Director, International Strategy & Partnerships at the Australian National University in July 2019, following 18 months as Acting Director. Jonathan was previously appointed Manager, Strategic Partnerships in July 2016. Jonathan provides strategic advice and briefings on international engagement to the university executive. He also manages key university partnerships, including membership of the International Alliance of Research Universities (IARU) and Association of Pacific Rim Universities (APRU). This appointment follows seven years working in the ANU Joint Colleges of Science as Executive Officer (International Development) and Manager of Student Recruitment. Jonathan holds a Bachelor of Advanced Science (Honours) from the University of Sydney and a Graduate Diploma in Science Communication from the ANU. He has 10 years' experience in science communication and has worked in the higher education sector for ten years.

ETH Zürich

Prof. Joël MESOT
President, ETH Zurich

Joël Mesot, President of ETH Zurich, took up his new responsibility on 1 January 2019. Prior to his appointment, he served for more than 10 years as the Director of the Paul Scherrer Institute (PSI), the largest publicly funded research institute in Switzerland. In addition, Dr. Mesot has been a full professor in physics, both at ETH Zurich and EPF Lausanne. Since July 2010, he has also served as a member of the ETH Board.

Dr. Mesot studied physics at ETH Zurich and earned his doctoral degree in the field of solid state physics using neutron scattering, both at ETH and the Institute Laue-Langevin (France). Following his first position at the PSI, he spent several years at the Argonne National Laboratory in the USA, where he specialized in synchrotron techniques. In 1999, he returned to Switzerland to head the ETH and PSI's joint laboratory for neutron scattering.

For his scientific achievements, Dr. Mesot has received several awards, among which the Swiss Physical Society's IBM Award in 1995 and ETH Zurich's Latsis Prize for excellence in research in 2002. He is member of several national and international advisory boards, among them the Swiss Innovation Park's Foundation Board and the Senate of the Helmholtz Association, Germany.

Dr. Jürg BRUNNSCHWEILER (Senior Officer)
Chief of Staff to the President

Jürg Brunnschweiler is the Chief of Staff to the President of ETH Zurich and heads the Office of the President. The Office of the President provides strategic and operational services to advance ETH Zurich and the President's vision and priorities. It is comprised of teams that are responsible for coordinating and promoting activities in the areas of Foresight and Strategic Affairs, Sustainability, International Affairs, and Global Visibility.

Jürg Brunnschweiler joined ETH Zurich in 2002. Before becoming Chief of Staff to the President on 1 January 2020, he worked first in the Presidents' Staff and the Lecturers' Office, then in the office dealing with the European Union Framework Programmes and in 2009 returned to the Office for Faculty Affairs where he was responsible for faculty recruiting procedures at various departments. In addition, he was contact person for academic career advancement and Secretary of the Tenure Committee. In 2012, Jürg Brunnschweiler took the helm of ETH Global, the former staff unit for international relations at ETH Zurich. He is a member of the Global Advisory Board and the Board of Directors of the ETH Alumni Association.

Jürg Brunnschweiler holds a PhD in Biology from the University of Zurich.

Mr. Anders HAGSTRÖM (Senior Officer)
Head International Affairs

Anders Hagström is Head of International Affairs in the Office of the President at ETH Zurich. Before taking up his present position in 2008 he was project manager of ETH World, an ICT development program for education, research and services. Career stations before joining ETH Zurich in 1999 include various positions in the field of continuing professional development and lifelong learning for engineers at Helsinki University of Technology, the University of Cambridge and the European Federation of National Engineering Associations (FEANI).

National University of Singapore

Professor TAN Eng Chye
President, National University of Singapore

Professor Tan Eng Chye was appointed President of the National University of Singapore (NUS) on 1 January 2018. He is the University's 5th president, and the 23rd leader to head Singapore's oldest higher education institution.

Prof Tan, who attended Raffles Institution (1974 to 1979), obtained his Bachelor in Mathematics (First Class Honours, 1985) at NUS and his PhD (1989) at Yale University. He joined NUS as a faculty member in the Department of Mathematics in 1985, as a Senior Tutor, and has held visiting positions at various universities overseas such as the Rutgers University, University of Washington at Seattle, University of California at Berkeley and University of Maryland, USA; Universities of Tokyo and Kyoto, Japan; as well as the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology.

Prof Tan's research interests are in the Representation Theory of Lie Groups and Lie Algebras; and Invariant Theory and Algebraic Combinatorics. He has been invited to speak in numerous top conferences overseas, and has published more than 20 articles in top internationally-refereed journals and conference proceedings. He has co-authored three books on mathematics, including a well-known graduate text on non-Abelian harmonic analysis.

Prof Tan is a passionate and award-winning educator. He was a pioneer architect of the current academic system in NUS, and has seeded many initiatives such as the Special Programme in Science, University Scholars Programme, University Town Residential College Programme, Grade-free Year, and Technology-enhanced Education. He was recognised with the University Teaching Award for Innovative Teaching in 1998, and was President of the Singapore Mathematical Society (2001 to 2005) as well as the South East Asian Mathematical Society (2004 to 2005).

Prof Tan received the Public Administration Medal (Gold) at Singapore's National Day Awards in 2014 for his outstanding contributions to education. He was awarded the Wilbur Lucius Cross Medal from Yale University and the Yale Graduate School Alumni Association in 2018 which honours exceptional alumni in the areas of scholarship, teaching, academic administration and public service.

Associate Professor Reuben WONG
Associate Vice President (Global Relations Office)

Reuben Wong joined the Global Relations Office as Academic Director in January 2019, and was appointed Associate Vice President (Global Relations) in January 2021. Reuben is an Associate Professor jointly in the College of Alice & Peter Tan (CAPT) and the Department of Political Science in the National University of Singapore.

The founding Director of Studies (2012-19) in CAPT, Reuben has been a CAPT Resident Fellow since 2019. In the Political Science Department, he held the first Jean Monnet Chair (European Integration and Foreign Policy) in Singapore with a grant from the European Commission (2013-16). He teaches inter-disciplinary modules in CAPT, international relations in Political Science, and is a Fellow in the Teaching Academy.

A former diplomat, Reuben was First Secretary in the Singapore Embassy in Paris (1995 -1998). Returning to academia, he earned an M.Phil in European Politics at Oxford, and a PhD in International Relations at the LSE on an NUS Overseas Graduate Scholarship. His publications include The Europeanization of French Foreign Policy (Palgrave Macmillan, 2006), National and European Foreign Policies (Routledge, 2011), and journal articles on EU foreign policy, ASEAN, EU-China relations, and the politics of disability. University of California, Berkeley

Dr. Carol CHRIST

Chancellor, UC Berkeley

Carol Tecla Christ began her term as the 11th chancellor of the University of California, Berkeley on July 1, 2017. A celebrated scholar of Victorian literature, Christ is also well known as an advocate for quality, accessible public higher education, a proponent of the value of a broad education in the liberal arts and sciences, and a champion of women's issues and diversity on college campuses.

Christ spent more than three decades as a professor and administrator at UC Berkeley before serving as president of Smith College, one of the country's most distinguished liberal arts colleges, from 2002 to 2013. She returned to Berkeley in January 2015 to direct the campus's Center for Studies in Higher Education, and was appointed interim executive vice chancellor and provost in April 2016 before being named chancellor in March 2017. Since returning to Berkeley, Christ has played an instrumental role in efforts to stabilize the institution's budget, confront sexual violence and sexual harassment on campus, create a long-term plan for housing students and scholars, and more.

As president of Smith for more than a decade, Christ supervised the development of the nation's only accredited engineering program at a women's college, oversaw a significant rise in student diversity, expanded Smith's global activities and reach, managed a major campus capital planning program, and shepherded the college through strategic planning exercises designed to improve its academic and financial models within the context of changing trends in higher education.

Prior to joining Smith, Christ served as UC Berkeley's executive vice chancellor and provost from 1994 until 2000. During her six years as the campus's top academic officer, she sharpened Berkeley's intellectual focus, strengthening many of the institution's top-rated departments in the humanities and sciences as well as advancing major initiatives in areas including neuroscience and bioengineering.

Christ received her B.A. (1966) from Douglass College, and her M.Ph. (1969) and Ph.D. (1970) from Yale University. She joined the Berkeley English faculty in 1970, and in addition to her other roles, has served as chair of that department, dean of the Division of Humanities, and provost for the College of Letters and Science. Christ has authored two books, The Finer Optic: The Aesthetic of Particularity in Victorian Poetry (1975) and Victorian and Modern Poetics (1994), and has edited or co-edited several others, including The Norton Anthology of English Literature. She is a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the American Philosophical Society.

Prof. Lisa ALVAREZ-COHEN (Senior Officer)
Vice Provost for Academic Planning

Lisa Alvarez-Cohen is the Vice Provost for Academic Planning at UC Berkeley, as well as the campus Senior International Officer. She began serving in this role in 2018.

She is the Fred and Claire Sauer Professor, past-Chair of the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering and past Chair of the Faculty Senate at UC Berkeley. She received her Bachelor's Degree in Engineering and Applied Science from Harvard University and her M.S. and Ph.D. in Environmental Engineering and Science from Stanford University. Her research areas include biotransformation and fate of environmental water contaminants, environmental microbiology and ecology, bioremediation, biological wastewater nutrient removal, and application of molecular and isotopic techniques for studying environmental microbial communities. She teaches both undergraduate and graduate courses in environmental microbiology, environmental engineering, and biological process engineering, and has co-authored the textbook Environmental Engineering Science. She is a fellow of the American Academy of Microbiology and a member of the National Academy of Engineering. She has won a number of awards including the China 1,000 Talents National Award, the ASCE Simon W. Freese Environmental Engineering Award, the W. M. Keck Foundation Award for Engineering Teaching Excellence, and the National Science Foundation Young Investigator Award.

Yale University

Professor Peter SALOVEY

President, Yale University

Peter Salovey is the twenty-third president of Yale University and the Chris Argyris Professor of Psychology. He holds secondary faculty appointments in the School of Management, the School of Public Health, the Institution for Social and Policy Studies, and the Sociology Department. He became president of the university in July 2013.

President Salovey has led the development of new programs and facilities across the schools and departments of Yale, including restructuring the leadership of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences and opening two new residential colleges, expanding Yale College by 15 percent. He is advancing innovative teaching on campus; amplifying Yale's partnerships in Africa, Asia, and other parts of the world; and enhancing interdisciplinary collaboration and entrepreneurial opportunity for faculty and students. President Salovey is committed to increasing access to a Yale education for students worldwide regardless of their financial background.

Prior to becoming president, President Salovey served as the provost of Yale University from 2008 to 2013. As provost, he facilitated strategic planning and initiatives such as enhancing career development and mentoring opportunities for all Yale faculty members; promoting faculty diversity; creating the Office of Academic Integrity; establishing the University-wide Committee on Sexual Misconduct; developing the West Campus; and overseeing the university's budget during the global financial crisis.

Other leadership roles at Yale have included serving as chair of the Department of Psychology (2000 to 2003); dean of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences (2003 to 2004); and dean of Yale College (2004 to 2008).

After receiving an A.B. (psychology) and A.M. (sociology) from Stanford University in 1980 with departmental honors and university distinction, President Salovey earned three degrees at Yale in psychology: M.S. (1983), M.Phil. (1984), and Ph.D. (1986). Since joining the Yale faculty in 1986, he has studied the connections among emotion, health communication, and health behavior, with a special focus on emotional intelligence. He played key roles in multiple Yale programs including the Health, Emotion, and Behavior Laboratory, which President Salovey founded and is now the Center for Emotional Intelligence; the Center for Interdisciplinary Research on AIDS; and the Cancer Prevention and Control Research Program.

President Salovey has authored or edited over a dozen books translated into eleven languages and published hundreds of journal articles and essays. With John D. Mayer, he developed a broad framework called “emotional intelligence,” the theory that just as people have a wide range of intellectual abilities, they also have a wide range of measurable emotional skills that profoundly affect their thinking and action.

In addition to teaching and mentoring scores of graduate students, President Salovey has won both the William Clyde DeVane Medal for Distinguished Scholarship and Teaching in Yale College and the Lex Hixon '63 Prize for Teaching Excellence in the Social Sciences. He has received honorary degrees from the University of Pretoria (2009), Shanghai Jiao Tong University (2014), National Tsing Hua University (2014), Harvard University (2015), and McGill University (2018). In 2013, he was elected to the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and to the National Academy of Medicine.

Mr. Donald L. FILER (Senior Officer, Key Contact)

Associate Vice President for Global Strategy

Donald Filer has overall responsibility for Yale’s Office of International Affairs (OIA), which he has led since its creation in 2004. OIA provides administrative support for the international activities of the schools, programs, and individual faculty across the university. These efforts focus on supporting the development of new projects with partner universities, coordinating the work of other Yale offices during project start-ups, managing visits to Yale by university delegations and other dignitaries, and safeguarding Yale’s reputation around the world.

Mr. Filer also leads the university’s emergency response in the event of a medical emergency, natural disaster, or civil unrest taking place abroad, and oversees the Yale Young Global Scholars Program, the Greenberg Conference Center, Yale’s Marketing and Trademark Licensing Office, and the Yale Conferences & Events Office.

He joined Yale University in 2000 as Associate Secretary with responsibility for managing support for the Yale Corporation (the university’s governing board), supervising the Yale Visitor Center, and directing the Office of Licensing Programs. Prior to his appointment at Yale, he served in a number of capacities at Connecticut College in New London, Connecticut, from 1991 to 2000 including Vice President for Community and Public Affairs, Secretary of the College, and Acting Vice President for Development. He worked for former U.S. Representative Bruce A. Morrison of New Haven from 1985 to 1991. Mr. Filer earned a B.A. in political science from Colgate University.
