Session 2: Presidents' Regional Round-up – reflecting on university leadership today

In light of the time that has lapsed since the last in-person Presidents' Meeting, we would like to focus this year's regional roundup around the following question: 'how has the nature of your role as a university leader changed over the last two years?'

The Presidents may like to draw on their experience in the following areas:

- Informing, inspiring and uniting the university community
- Executive and collegial decision-making
- Challenging existing processes and procedures to do new things or do things quickly
- Working with government, public health authorities, and other universities
